Punchard and Johnson will close their football seasons Thursday morning in the annual Thanksgiving day game to be played here beginning at 10:15 o'clock.

Because of its better season's record Punchard will rule a favorite over its North Andover rivals but, as is true of all these traditional games, the season's record will have little influence on what happens in the game.

During the present season PUNCHARD and JOHNSON have met several mutual opponents. Both lost to undefeated IPSWICH; PUNCHARD and CHELMSFORD battled to a 19-19 tie while the NORTH ANDOVER team lost to CHELMSFORD by the overwhelming score of 60 to 0. PUNCHARD defeated WILMINGTON 33 to 6 and NORTH ANDOVER lost to them 27 to 0. In the Little Three series PUNCHARD won 33 to 19 over METHUEN while the NORTH ANDOVER boys dropped a 39 to 0 decision to them.

Operating from its T formation the Blue and Gold is a better team than its record indicates. The team really got rolling in the Methuen game and after spotting the visitors a 12-0 lead early in the first two periods roared back with less than two minutes to play to take the lead 14-12 as the half closed and then went on to win by a decisive score.

Coach Bob McIntyre and his assistant, Joe Igoe, have the Blue Devils primed for this important

The Andover Teachers' Assn. will present Mrs. Robert Richards of Groveland in a program, "Christmas in Andover," at the Memorial auditorium Wednesday, Dec. 1 at 8 P.M.

This will be an illustrated lecture on how to use Christmas greens and other materials to make various Christmas decorations at a small cost.

The program is being presented to raise money for scholarships to be awarded to two Punchard high school seniors next June. It is being planned by the following committee appointed by the president, S. Perry Congdon: Mrs. Rose

Installation of the new traffic control system in Elm square is nearly completed and is expected to be put into operation early next week.

There is some work still to be done on the traffic tower and on the traffic islands. When completed there will be five standards with nine sets of lights which will control the flow of traffic entering the square from five streets. Post Office avenue will be made one-way eastbound. Essex street will continue to be one-way westbound as at present.

The Christmas lights will be turned on Friday evenings as part of the Andover Board of Trade's program for the coming Yule holidays.

One of the big events in the board's program will be the monster street parade to be held at 1:30 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 4 which will welcome Santa Claus and his workers to Andover.

The parade will be led by the Punchard Girls' band and will proceed down Main street to the square. Santa, as usual, will have a big bag of candy and other gifts for the children and spectators who line the streets to greet him on his ar-

Shopping Center Exhibit Extended

New Andover school? New highway? New areas for merchandising? These are some of the problems which will face the citizens of Andover not too many months from now.

Currently on exhibition at the Addison Gallery on the campus of Phillips academy is an exhibit discussing one of the issues involved. Because of its immediate interest, the exhibit, originally schedule to close on Dec. 1, has been extended through Dec. 19.

"Shopping Centers of Tomorrow" is a display designed by Victor Gruen Associates of New York and is currently being circulated throughout the country by the American Federation of Arts. It consists of a series of enlarged photographs accompanied by text that provides an insight into the benefits of careful planning and warns against the pitfalls of careless, makeshift, and selfseeking solutions. The display is supplemented by a recorded address illustrated by color slides.

All are welcome to the Addison Gallery without charge. The display is visible every weekday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sundays from 2:30 to 5 p.m. Closed Thanksgiving day.

PUNCHARD FAVORED IN GAME WITH JOHNSON

Punchard will probably start with Bill Fisher and Ed Dwyer at the ends, Dick Lumenello and Phil Spinney tackles, Capt. Ernest Clegg and George Henrick, guards, Albert Damon at quarter, Allan Widman left half, Allan Schwarzenberg or Dick Smith right half, and Bob Grudzinski full back.

Howard Crozier, North Andover coach, will probably start with Bob Cahill and Hollis ends, Dick Killen and Andrew Zigelis tackles, Charles Hutchins and Lou Detora guards, S. Galvanza center, Norman Heinze quarterback, Bob Harris and Bill Hugh halfbacks, and Dennis Currier fullback.

Punchard has more experienced players in its starting lineup and with a fair break in the weather a good-sized crowd should be on hand.

Parent's Statement

On the eve of the game and at the close of the present season the parents of the boys on the Andover team have issued the following statement:

Tomorrow Punchard plays its last football game of the season. As the blue and gold line up against our traditional rivals and neighbors from North Andover, we, the fathers of so many of the Punchard players want to express to the team our best wishes for their success on the gridiron. A victory tomorrow would be a fine ending to the season and would again clinch for them the coveted Little Three championship.

We want to take this occasion to commend Robert McIntyre who, we believe is a good teacher and coach, and appreciate the spirit and conduct of his squad on and off the field. An important factor in a good coach is the influence he has with his boys, and this lasts for

Day Of Thanks

This is the season when our thoughts turn to the early settlers of the Plymouth Plantation who in November 1623 set aside a day to give thanks to God for their abundant harvest after months of sickness and toil in a strange and barren land.

Their food supply had been low, many had died and there was great fear of annihilation by savages.

But when their harvest was gathered changes were apparent. In the written words of Governor William Bradford, "In stead of famine, now God gave them plentie, and ye face of things was changed, to ye rejoysing of ye harts of many, for which they blessed God."

It was through the great courage and sacrifice of these sturdy Pilgrims that today we have the many liberties we now enjoy, a free country, a land of plenty and one of great opportunity.

While everything is not well in the world we in America, as we dwell upon our material advantages, should give thought to our spiritual blessings as well and with grateful hearts thank God for all that He has bestowed upon our free and industrious nation.

The Destroyer Of Liberty

If you think the menace of super-government is new in the world, read this: "The way to have good and safe government is not to trust it all to one, but to divide it among the many . . . What has destroyed liberty and the rights of man under every government which has ever existed under the sun? The generalizing and concentrating all cares and power into one body, no matter whether of the autocrats of Russia or France or of the aristocrats of a Venetian senate."

That was written in the early days of this Republic, by one of our greatest statesmen, Thomas Jefferson. What Jefferson fought and argued for was true liberalism—as contrasted with the phoney "liberalism" of today which urges all-powerful government—the kind of government that has brutalized and enslaved hundreds of millions of people in the last 30 years.

NEW BOOKS

Many of the autumn books were on display during Book week and were reserved by the open house guests and those who came in later during the week to look over the tables. Here are a few books added recently which may be more available at the moment than those exhibited last week:

Freighter Travel Guidebook.

This book discusses the fascinating travel by freighter idea; it describes the vessels, gives detailed information regarding the services they offer to almost all parts of the world. A "must" book for those who hope to become "freighter" voyagers.

First Principles Of Verse, Hillyer.

Two chapters have been added to the original version of this unusual book on versification - one of which points out the joy and the art of reading aloud.

Color In Hooked Rugs, McGown.

Pearl McGown explains the law and order of color, in accordance with the Munsell system. Book has 16 color plates, and over 100 black and white pictures, with detailed description of color plans for 135 rugs shown at her exhibit in Horticultural Hall, Worcester.

Let's Drive Right, Halsey.

A textbook for courses in driver education, but a fine review book for those who are "old hands" at the game.

The Climate Of Eden, Hart.

A play, based on Edgar Mittelholzer's novel "Shadows Move Among Them." Jungle setting, in British Guiana.

N.Y., N.Y. Oursler.

The great city itself is the hero of this novel which depicts this city of eight million souls in all its diversity.

LITTLEST LISTENERS

The Bluebirds will have their story hour at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Dec. 1, in the Young People's library. Already the little people are learning the art of social behavior, are finding themselves more at home with each other and are paying keen attention to the stories and music. Ballardvale Littlest Listeners will have their meeting at 10 a.m., Thursday, Dec. 2, in the branch library.
